TRADITIONS

Spring

CASCARONES

- Hollowed out colorful eggs filled with paper confetti. It's a tradition to chase your family around during the Easter season and crack an egg on their head.

BAYLOR CANYON PASS WILDFLOWERS

If the rains are generous enough, in spring, yellow poppies blanket the northern foothills of the Organ Mountains along Baylor Canyon Pass. All visitors are asked to be respectful and not step on, pick or crush the flowers while at the site.

Summer

CALABACITAS

Southern New Mexico has a great climate for growing squash and zucchini, making "Calabacitas" a perfect summer dish. Although it translates to "little squash," this dish often incorporates sautéed corn, tomatoes and onion. Chile and cheese are welcome additions.

Fall

CORN MAZES

The Mesilla Valley becomes ripe with fall festivities during the season. As a renowned agricultural community, its corn fields and pumpkin patches are frequented throughout September and October, and made even better by the idyllic weather. Get lost in one of two of the area's corn mazes— La Union Maze or Mesilla Valley Maze.

DÍA DE LOS MUERTOS

In late fall, Mesilla and Doña Ana hold Día de los Muertos celebrations. The holiday honors deceased loved ones. Ofrendas or small altars are built to honor their memory and consist of colorful decorations and offerings. It is celebrated over three days locally and encompasses Oct. 31, known as Day of the Dead; Nov. 1, known as All Saints Day; and Nov. 2, known as All Souls Day. The celebrations can vary by region.

Winter

LUMINARIAS

Luminarias are traditional New Mexico holiday decorations. The paper lanterns are weighed down by sand with a candle nestled safely inside. Tealights or bulbs are used now. They are sometimes referred to as "farolitos."

BISCOCHOS

Every family seems to have their own "secret" recipe for these melt-in-your mouth, shortbread-style cookies. Anise, cinnamon and sugar create the base flavors to this holiday and family-gathering favorite. It's what each family adds to their own recipe that makes it special.

PONCHE NAVIDEÑO

This hot, spiced fruit punch is made with fruits like guava and tejocotes. It is flavored with piloncillo, cinnamon sticks, jamaica and sugar cane. Some recipes may also add dried plums, apples, oranges, tamarindo, cloves and alcohol.

CHAMPURRADO

This is another hot beverage perfect for warming those cold desert nights. Base ingredients include masa (corn dough), piloncillo, cinnamon and other spices. The masa adds a creamy consistency that makes the texture and flavor unique.

TAMALES

Tamale making is one way to involve family in the making of their own meal. The process consists of spreading masa on a dried corn husk, adding your filling— red chile meat, green chile cheese, green chile chicken and more— wrapping it, then steaming the tamales in large batches. The process is time consuming, but well worth the wait!

POSOLE AND MENUDO

Posole and menudo are cure-alls for a lot of people. The soups start off with a hominy and then deviate from there. Menudo has tripe and a red chile base, which sets the flavor apart from posole. Posole typically has chicken, pork or beef to flavor the broth along with either a red chile or green chile base. Lime, oregano, onion, radish, cabbage are toppings that add even more flavor and texture to the heartiness of the dish. Recipes can vary significantly from family to family, making it a staple dish during the holidays.

History Sheet

Las Cruces is the second largest city in New Mexico.

The name "Las Cruces" translates to "The Crosses" in Spanish.

The area was originally inhabited by the Manso people, a Native American tribe.

Las Cruces was officially founded in 1849. Initially the neighboring town of Mesilla was the larger settlement, until the railroad was built in the 1880s and New Mexico State University (first known as Las Cruces College) was founded in 1888, both contributing to the growth in population. The land Las Cruces sits on was ceded to the United States as a result of the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo of 1848, marking the end of the Mexican American War. The historic Mesilla Plaza, located nearby, was once part of Mexico before the Gadsden Purchase in 1854.

Las Cruces is in southern New Mexico at the crossroads of two major interstates— Interstate 10 and Interstate 25.

Fort Selden was built in 1865 and was the original home of the Buffalo Soldiers.

Las Cruces is home to the New Mexico Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum which spans 47 acres and is the one of the most visited attractions in southern New Mexico.

Geronimo's Cave is located Las Cruces' Robledo Mountains and is said to have been used by the Apache leader and his followers to escape from U.S. soldiers in the late 1800s. Today it is a popular hiking destination.

Las Cruces is home to the world's largest roadrunner and world's largest chile pepper.

Las Cruces was once home to the world's largest enchilada. It was a flat enchilada made by local Roberto Estrada and held the title since 1980. The title was lost during Mexico City's 2012 National Enchilada Fair when a larger, rolled enchilada was created. Some say it is not a fair comparison.

In 1989, New Mexico made the “biscochito” or “biscocho” its official state cookie.

In 1629, the first grapevines were planted along the Rio Grande and were originally smuggled from Spain by monks to make wine for ceremony and sacrament. This established southern New Mexico as the oldest wine-producing region in the nation.

Pat Garrett, who became renowned for killing the infamous outlaw Billy the Kid, was the sheriff of Doña Ana County from 1896-1902.

In 1996, New Mexico became the only state to establish an official state question, referring to its most famous product, Chile. The question is “Red or Green?”

Las Cruces is home to the Chile Pepper Institute, the only international, non profit devoted to the education and research of Chile peppers.

New Mexico is the second largest pecan-producing state in the nation.

Doña Ana County is the top pecan-producing county in the nation with over 32,000 acres of pecan orchards.

For all those pop culture buffs, an entire episode of the 90s sitcom Wings revolves around a flight to Las Cruces. In the episode titled “Das Plane” a man pays $10,000 at a charity auction for a flight anywhere. He chooses to fly from Nantucket to see his estranged brother in Las Cruces.

In an episode of Boston Legal titled “Death Be Not Proud” an aerial shot of Las Cruces is shown to indicate the “Texas” city lawyer Alan Shore is traveling to.

Complete the Protest Form and turn it into the Game Headquarters ASAP.

The Game Management will then make the decision to summon the Arbitration Committee to handle the conflict if needed.

Free 1-Day & 1-Week E-Permits

For the occasional daytime visitor during the week, there are two options. The E-Permit is a free single-day permit that can be obtained over the Internet without any need to enter the Parking Department. Up to 5 E-Permits can be obtained each year. For those on campus more than just a few days each year, the free weekly visitor permit is a favorite. It allows parking in most spaces on campus.

Free Lots & Metered Parking

Visitors who are only going to be on campus for a short time and are not interested in obtaining a visitor permit can park in either a “Free” lot or at a parking meter. Meter rates are $1.00 per hour, with meters operational from 7:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m., Monday-Friday. Meters are currently located in the center of campus at the Jordan St. entrance of Corbett Center Student Union, the west curb of lot 45 next to Zuhl Library, lot 44 in front of the Aquatic Center, in lot 49 off of Williams Ave. next to Frenger Food Court, at the east end of the North Horseshoe and South Horseshoe, and in the parking lot between Gerald Thomas Hall and Knox Hall.

The “Free” lots can be located on the campus parking map (identified in brown).

Other Venues: Free Parking at the location of your Event!
